DR. ACTON

Sells Interest In Hospital At Handsome Profit.

Dr. J. M. Acton, who was a visitor in Lancaster this week, and who recently purchased a one half interest in a hospital in Muncie, Ind., has sold his interest in that institution, and the practice accompanying it for a handsome profit, and will give possession immediately.

Mrs. J. O. Bogie, who has been taking nurses training in Dr. Acton's hospital, will go to the Miller hospital at Newcastle, Ind., where she has accepted a lucrative position.

ENTERTAINMENT

For April 1, Postponed.

Not wishing to interfere with the Pre-Easter services which have been arranged at the Christian Church, Rev. C. O. Johnson has canceled his engagement to appear in Lancaster, April 1st, in behalf of "The Near-East Relief." Rev. Johnson, however promises that if possible, he will give his popular "Evening of Laughter and Size" in Lancaster before he leaves for Tacoma, Washington, in June. Be on a look-out for the date which will appear soon for you cannot afford to miss this entertainment.

PASSES

State Housing Law.

The General Assembly passed a State Housing Law on Wednesday, March 17. The Law effects cities of but the first class, applying therefore only to Louisville. This Law is an advancement over the ten year old tenement house law, which is in regard to multiple dwellings, as this applies to one and two family dwellings as well.

The 1910 tenement house law is such that John Elder, of the National Housing Committee, when speaking before the Housing Committee of the Community Council, of Louisville, the organization sponsoring the Bill, said that Louisville had the highest type of tenement in the entire country. It now remains for the city to bring its one and two family dwellings up to the standard set by the tenements. The law calls for certain requirements in regard to lighting, sanitation, ventilation, repair and general health and living conditions.

The bill was introduced into the House by Representative Benjamin Ross, of Louisville, and before the Senate by Senator George Hon. of Winchester.

"Billy" West

Wins Honors.

"Billy" West, an old Lancaster boy who numbers his friends by his acquaintances, here where he is so well known, was recently made Exalted Ruler of the Elks in Tulsa Okla., his adopted home, winning over his opponent by four votes. Billy is connected with a big Pipe Line Company in Tulsa, and as a matter of course is "making good".

Another Lancaster

Boy Prospering.

Daily papers carry news of an immense oil strike in Reeves County, Texas. The new well is a "gusher", one of the richest strikes made in the great Texas field. Ed G. Doty is located in Pecos, the county seat of Reeves County. Ed is an old Lancaster boy who located in Texas and is now engaged in the oil game, and it will be gratifying to his many friends to hear that he has many leases in the immediate vicinity, some actually adjoining, the new strike. Charles B. Doty left last week for Texas to locate with his brother.

LEGISLATURE

Passes New State Highway Bill.

State Will Refund Every Dollar Put In For Road Improvement.

VOTE FOR THE BOND ISSUE.

As there still seems to be considerable misunderstanding in regard to the Bond Issue, I feel that I would like to say a few words in regard to the matter. At the time the election was called it was understood that the County would have to pay 45 per cent of the cost of this work, but since the election was called the Legislature, which has just adjourned, passed the new State Highway Bill, under which the state will refund every dollar of the money that the County puts up. All we have to do to secure this, is to vote the Bonds, and make the Contract under the New State Commission, also using Federal Aid, as soon as this law takes effect, which is July 1st, of the present year.

Should the Bonds be defeated it will probably be from five to ten years before the State can construct these roads, and in the meantime the County will be compelled to rebuild them at our own expense, which will be many times the interest on the Bonds will amount to. A far more important fact than this, however, is that the money that the County would be compelled to spend on these roads, can if the Bonds carry, be diverted to other roads of the County, and I suppose everyone realizes the fact it is needed elsewhere.

While we are speaking of the road fund, I find that many of our citizens are grossly misinformed in regard to the matter, a number of persons having enquired of me if there was not fifty or sixty thousand dollars expended on the pikes last year. The entire road fund of Garrard County is approximately Thirty Thousand dollars, of which from four to five thousand dollars is required on the dirt roads. Bridge lumber and metal culverts will average about twenty-five hundred dollars per year, the rebuilding of bridges, abutments, walls and culverts, will average around two thousand dollars, besides paying the interest on all the money that is used, as the County many years ago, got a year behind, and the most of the money that is used each year has to be borrowed for use before the taxes are collected. Besides all this there is still a debt of ten thousand dollars of several years standing, on which the interest has to be paid. So it is clear when it is all summed up there is not more than twenty thousand dollars that can go on the pikes each year. At the present price of labor, etc. it requires from six to eight thousand dollars per mile to even reconstruct roads that will pass state inspection, you may easily realize how far this amount will go toward keeping up all the pikes in our County.

I only call your attention to these facts in order that you may see how important it is that we do not lose this opportunity that is now presented to us. If the Bonds are voted these two most expensive roads will be out of the way for good, as the State will maintain them after they are built at no expense to the County whatever.

At the first road meeting that was held in the County I made the statement that I would appoint a non-partisan Commission composed of four men whose duty it would be to keep a record and know how every dollar of the money the Bonds bring is expended.

At first I had not thought it necessary to name these men until after the election, but as naming the Commissioners now might help the cause along, will now name them. Before I do this, however, will say I have not had an opportunity to consult any of them as to whether or not they will serve, but feel sure that they will do so, but wish to make this statement so that if any of them should fail to serve, the public will not think that I have not kept my word in regard to their appointment. Will say, however, that should any of them fail to serve that I will appoint another good man in his place, and pledge you there will be no politicians on this board.

Will name one man from each Magisterial District as follows: J. W. Elmore, Lancaster, Ky., R. L. Burton, Bryantsville, Ky., Hiram Ray, Buckeye, Ky., R. H. Ledford, Paint Lick, Ky. Feeling sure that each of these men will serve, and again urging you to come out next Tuesday and vote for the Bonds, I am,

Yours very truly,

FOREST STAPP, County Judge.

AMERICAN LEGION

NEWS.

Next Meeting Second Thursday in April.

The American Legion of Post Heidal Sanford met last Friday night at the Police Court Room in this city and matters of interest were disposed of.

The entire body voted unanimously in favor of a bonus for all Ex-service men and telegrams were sent to Congress to that effect.

Several cases in regard to the men who are in the Naval Reserve were brought before the body of Legionnaires and their cases were promptly attended to.

Orders were also taken for the AMERICAN LEGION BUTTON which only members of the American Legion are allowed to wear and same will be here in a few days.

Matters were explained in regards to the War Risk Insurance and it was urged upon each member to continue his Government Insurance.

Beginning next Sunday the big drive for the AMERICAN LEGION will start and all the preachers in the county have been called upon to announce this and tell of the great need for the American Legion. The ex-service men will not be asked to contribute nor work, as this is a matter left entirely in the hands of the CIVILIANS who stayed at home while the boys were STANDING between you and the great common enemy.

John M. Farra has been asked and accepted to act as chairman for this drive.

If you Mr. Ex Service Man, haven't joined the American Legion of this place, call Ben Woods at McRoberts Drug Store and give your name and become a member.

REMEMBER THE AMERICAN LEGION STANDS FOR THE EX-SERVICE MAN.—NO SLACKER OR DRAFT EVADERS ARE ELEGIBLE.

COL. FRANK RIPPY

Of Anderson County Makes Many Warm Supporters In Garrard.

Colonel Rippy was here this week shaking hands with the Democratic voters of this county in the interest of his race for the nomination for Congress from this district.

Colonel Rippy is an ex-service man, having had three years service in the Army on the Mexican border and in France, and made many staunch supporters while here. He is making an active canvass and says if he is given the nomination that the Democrats can rest assured that the Eighth District will be found to have returned the old time Democratic majority in November.

Colonel Rippy is one of the leading lawyers and business men of Anderson county and would make a splendid representative.

Buckeye High School To Give Play.

The Literary Societies will give a play—Jumbo Jum—at the chapel, March 25th, at 7 o'clock P. M.

The Eighth Grade will give a graduation program March 26th, at 7 o'clock P. M.

These programs are free.

About Ready

For Occupancy.

Although constructed under adverse conditions, scarcity of labor and material and inclement cold weather, the two new residences of Messrs Green Clay Walker and Emory McWhorter are about ready for occupancy. These residences are located on lots purchased off the Kinaird property, are handsome structures and lend materially to the beauty of Danville street.

"Big Bill" Tatem

Making Good.

Clell Tatem, the Lancaster boy who is with the Louisville Base Ball team this season, and who is now in the training camp at Mobile Ala., seems to have won for himself the sobriquet of "Big Bill". Last Saturday's Courier-Journal contained a likeness of young Tatem in action, and from the husky look of the picture, he is surely entitled to his new name. Clell began making good right from the start, and it is expected he will win for himself a permanent berth with the Colonels.

HIGH COST

OF LIVING

And the Accompanying Scramble for Wealth Does not Curtail Church Activities In Lancaster.

We are passing through just now what might be aptly termed "reconstruction days." Our country was of course not actually devastated by the ravages of war, and yet the war was keenly felt by us. The various calls of a patriotic nature, to which many of us "gave 'til it hurt", left us in a sorry plight financially. This followed by the extreme high cost of living brought the war forcibly before our eyes, brought us a vivid realization of the horrors of war, to a certain extent.

Yet our recuperative powers are great, and already the great American spirit is beginning to assert itself, and within a few years things will have resumed their normal state and the great war and its dire results will have been forgotten.

This country since the cessation of hostilities, has been called upon to raise countless millions of dollars for various purposes, all worthy, and has responded nobly. Almost every denomination has started a drive for a large fund, showing that the Master's cause is not being neglected; also the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and like organizations have conducted "drives" for the securing of large sums, all of which invariably proved successful.

As ample proof that we live in a spiritually enlightened, as well as a commercially progressive community, we wish to cite the fact that not only has Lancaster and Garrard county "gone over the top" most nobly in the interest of these various calls, but we have initiated local activities with a view to furthering the Master's cause in our own immediate community.

At least two of the local churches are contemplating, either building or extensively improving their structures. Rev. Bourland of the Christian Church is seriously advocating a new structure for his congregation, while the Presbyterian congregation will make extensive improvements to their edifice.

Splendid Farm Advertised in This Issue.

We want to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of J. S. Haselden in this issue. Mr. Haselden tells us this is one of the best farms he has ever sold at auction and if you are interested in buying a farm at this time then would advise you to look into this proposition.

Former Garrard County Man dies in Lincoln.

Mr. John Reid died at his home in Crab Orchard last Friday after only a few days illness of pneumonia. His remains, after funeral services at his late home, were placed at rest in the Hustonville cemetery on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Reid is survived by his wife, who was a sister of Messrs Ernest and James Wood of Paint Lick, and one daughter, Miss Annie. Mr. Reid formerly resided in the Cartersville section of this county, and was a most estimable citizen.

Aldridge.

Mrs. Katherine Aldridge died at the home of Mr. J. R. Haselden, in Lancaster on last Sunday. Mrs. Aldridge was 84 years of age and her death was due to the infirmities of old age. She was the widow of the late Joseph Aldridge, who many years ago preceded her to the grave. She was a life long and faithful member of the Christian church, and after short funeral services at the grave by Rev. E. B. Bourland, her remains were placed at rest in the Lancaster cemetery on last Monday morning.

Mrs. Aldridge is survived by one daughter, Mrs. J. Raymond Haselden of Lancaster, with whom she made her home, and three sons, Messrs Harry Aldridge of Stanford, Hughes Aldridge of Indiana and Malcolm Aldridge of Lancaster.

The entire life of this good woman was spent in Garrard County, the greater portion of it at the family home near the "Fork" and a multitude of friends in that locality, as well as throughout the county mourn her loss and extend their sympathy to those to whom her death is such a bereavement.

This is our last call: VOTE FOR THE BONDS.

AMERICAN LEGION

To Institute Drive For Funds on March 30.

It is Every True Americans Duty To Assist Them.

The American Legion, that grand organization, whose prime object is to combat everything un-American, will institute a drive in Garrard county on March 30 to secure funds with which to carry on their work.

A careful perusal of the following information as to the aims and purposes of this splendid organization will convince you that, not only is money contributed to them well invested, but it is the patriotic duty of every red blooded American to assist them with both their means and influence.

Here is who and what the Legion is:

WHY IT IS.

Seeking the privilege of serving in peace with the same spirit of consecration displayed in war, the American Legion has set forth its objects in the preamble to its constitution, which has been called an "instrument that was made by men who feared God and loved their land," in the following declaration:

"For God and country we associate ourselves together for the following purposes:

"To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, State and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

Membership is limited to those persons who were on active duty in the army, navy or marine corps between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918.

WHAT IT IS.

The American Legion is purely a civilian organization and has no connection, direct or indirect, with any military organizations, State or national.

It has prohibited the use of titles or reference to rank in the organization, and has decreed that the general and the private, the admiral and the "gob," shall serve together on terms of absolute equality.

It is not a political organization, and will not be used to promote the political ambitions of any member or class of members.

No man who holds a political office can be an officer of the American Legion.

It stands by its own membership. The Kentucky Legion now numbers about 9,000. It has 109 posts.

WHAT IT HAS DONE.

Kentucky Legionnaires have accomplished or brought about the following measures and movements for the benefit and safety of the State's citizens.

Passage of the anti-secession bill. Campaign for 100 per cent Americanism.

Adopted plans to Americanize and naturalize immigrants.

Passage of an appropriation for collecting war historical data.

Ousting of The People's Church in Louisville, a radical organization.

Will aid War Department in apprehending Kentucky's war slackers and draft delinquents.

Helped former service men through its Bureaus of Rehabilitation, Vocational Training, War Risk Insurance and Re-employment.

Assisted, and is still assisting Department of Justice officials in rounding up and obtaining information about individuals and organizations that seek or threaten to overthrow the present form of government.

THE PRESENT CAMPAIGN.

Many civilian organizations have co-operated with the Legion in its work. The last to come forward is a Citizens Committee, headed by Mr. A. T. Hert, of Louisville; Desha Breckinridge, Lexington; James B. Brown and Richard G. Knott, Louisville.

This Committee now proposes to raise a fund for Kentucky's American Legion, and for that purpose will call upon the people of the entire State to subscribe to the 100 per cent American League of Kentucky, the funds to be turned over to the American

HAS CIVIC PRIDE

Been Lost in Lancaster?

We are going to vote Bonds for the improvement of the turnpikes of the county, this is a certainty. But what are we going to do in the town? The streets within the city limits are in a miserable condition, and with the exception of a meager sprinkling of oil have had very little work done on them in recent years.

Is it possible that we are to have model turnpikes into our town only to terminate in such streets as are now to be seen in Lancaster?

Surely we are paying sufficient taxes to enable our City Dads to furnish us better streets than we now have.

Legion of Kentucky.

It has organized a campaign with a chairman in each Congressional District and a chairman in each county.

The amounts raised by this campaign are to be spent in the State according to needs.

No Legion member is expected to solicit funds during this campaign. It is a Citizens' Committee project.

The Legion hopes that the first use of the money will be the establishment of club rooms in each community where there is a Legion post. Your subscription is needed.

CAMPAIGN DATES—March 29th to April 3rd.

Mr. John M. Farra has been appointed Chairman for Garrard county to direct the drive, and he has selected officers for each precinct.

The roster of officers was not complete at the hour the Record goes to press, but the personnel has been selected and will call upon you.

The following officers have been selected by Mr. Farra, and other officers will be selected by the Colonels of the various districts to serve with them in this drive.

District or Precinct Officers.

Court House—W. A. Farnau, Colonel. West Park—D. A. Thomas, Colonel. East Park—Jas. A. Beasley, Colonel. Union—Silas Beard, Colonel. E. Bryantsville—J. C. Williams, Col. W. Bryantsville, J. Hogan Ballard, Colonel.

Walkers School—W. E. Whittaker, Colonel.

Buckeye—E. B. Ray, Colonel.

Paint Lick—H. J. Patrick, Colonel.

The following are the precinct officers reported so far by the Colonels.

COURT HOUSE—Mrs. W. B. Burton, Major; Mrs. H. S. Hudson, Captain; Mrs. G. C. Walker, and Mrs. Louis Landram, Lieutenants.

WEST PARK—Mrs. Sallie R. Lawson, Major; Miss Sallie Elkin, Captain; Misses Mattie Lutz and Mamie S. Dunn, Lieutenants.

EAST PARK—Mrs. S. G. Haselden, Major; Mrs. S. A. Walker, Captain; Mrs. Ross Bastin and Miss Shelby Mason, Lieutenants.

PAINT LICK—Mrs. R. G. Woods, Major; Mrs. Robert Walker, Captain; Mrs. Harry Francis and Thomas Logsdon, Lieutenants.

WEST BRYANTSVILLE—Mrs. R. I. Burton, Major, Miss Zillah Dawes, Captain; Mrs. G. S. Conant and Mrs. J. H. Ballard, Lieutenants.

The subordinate officers will be designated as Majors, Captains and Lieutenants, and while not as high sounding in rank, will be equally as active and persistent in the canvass as their superiors.

In the peace and quietude of your own homes, American citizens little dream that figuratively speaking, they are sitting over a fired mine. Bolshevism is abroad today in our land; scarcely a day but the papers tell us of some outbreak of I. W. W. or some like organization, which are the very rankest type of Bolshevism.

Our chief hope for the suppression of these undesirable, this menace to Americanism, lies in the American Legion. Their chief aim is to combat all organizations that are un-American. As to their efficiency along this line, let us cite you to their accomplishments "over there". They will be equally efficient "over here", but you must do your part. You must back them up, not alone with your stamp of approval, but with your means. It takes money to maintain such a splendid organization, with such noble aims for the public welfare. Surely the boys who compose this organization, and who have so recently offered their all should not be allowed to now give of their means to further such noble aims as their circular shows them to stand for.

Now is your opportunity to show hope to be helped. Help according your Americanism. Help as you to your means, but HELP.

It may not beget undue attention, but 240,162,943 needles were made in the United States last year. It would be pleasant mental recreation for a long evening to figure how many hours of labor, based on the proverb that a stitch in time saves nine, would have been saved the women of the nation if all these needles had been applied at the psychological moment.

Fitting a Bear With New Teeth.

A grizzly bear may wear out his teeth, just the same as a human being. When he needs new ones he gets them, particularly in America. More animal dentistry has been done here than in any other country. Once, when an old pet bear belonging to the owner of a well-known menagerie was fitted with a complete set of false teeth, it was necessary to glue the plates to the bear's mouth to keep them in place.

The spouts of china teapots become very much discolored in time. A wing feather of a chicken or turkey makes a good brush to remove them. When well soaped and drawn in and out of the spout it cleans it nicely.

Rancher's Lucky Find.

Some years ago a French-Canadian rancher was rambling about a distant part of his land when he noticed a piece of rock which glistened in the sun. Out of curiosity he picked it up and took it home with him. Its weight convinced him that it was mineralized rock and he took it to a specialist, who found it to be almost pure silver. Since then that ranch has yielded between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 ounces of silver.

KINE OF JOSEPH

Give Lesson In Thrift
For All.

The Lean Ones That Ate Up the Fat Represent the Lean Years That Will Come.

Anybody with determination and a steady job can save money. Anybody that can save money can make a success of life. Not because having money will of itself make them happy, but because having the things that money will buy will add to their comfort and pleasure, and because the correct living that goes with saving money will build character and broaden outlook.

But having saved it, the question of keeping it is the one to which the average American seems to fail to find the answer. Before the war, "Confidence men," promoters of unsound companies, and vendors of worthless stocks took annual tribute to the extent of some $300,000,000. Since the sum has been largely increased through the willingness of owners of Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps to trade them for "speculative stocks", the majority of which proved worthless.

It was seven lean kine which ate up the seven fat kine in Pharaoh's dream, the dream which Joseph correctly interpreted as meaning that seven hard years were going to consume all the savings of seven prosperous years. The lean kine which eat up American savings seem to be ten in number. In other words, while 60 men have accumulated moderate means at the age of thirty-five, ten years later only three have anything but their daily earnings.

What becomes of the fortunes, large or small, of the 57 during those ten years? Unpreventable misfortunes account probably for a very small percentage of the loss. Extravagance, carelessness, and foolish "investments" take the larger share.

The reason for the bulk of the losses is explained simply by Albert W. Atwood, the well-known financial writer, in his "Putnam's Investment Handbook." He says:

"The average man does not take one-thousandth as much trouble to invest his money so it will work for him as he does to earn that money." And again: "We all know men who overtake themselves into nervous breakdowns for a very moderate salary, and who do not give twenty minutes a week to details of saving a portion of their salary."

The safeguard, obviously, against the danger of the "treacherous ten years" is safe investment. Before the war, the most expert knowledge was required to choose an investment which guaranteed safety; the war has brought a development of enormous importance to the man of small means—it has made available Government securities in small denominations. The man who puts his savings into Government securities and leaves them there has nothing to worry about. He has absolute assurance of regular payment of interest and of full repayment of principal.

"With the youth of the country converted to ideas of sound finance, and regarding with scorn the 'wildcats' which robbed their fathers and grandfathers of their savings, the 'treacherous ten years' will loom less dangerous.

Many schools in many cities have 100 per cent of their pupils enrolled in the schoolroom Thrift Club, under whatever name it flourishes. The person who parts with Liberty Bonds for uninvested stocks or for articles he can dispense with is unwise.

Our Sugar Consumption

The American people are consuming per capita about five times as much sugar as in the year immediately following the Civil War. Fifty-five years ago eighteen or twenty pounds was the average allowance to a person. Today it approaches one hundred pounds. This is an excess comparable with many other abuses, for neither health nor pocket is served by an unbridled appetite. From beer, wine and liquor, lightly forbidden by amendment and law, the people have turned to sweets and the distillation thereof in the stomach.

Amount of Grain

On Farms March 1.

Washington.—The amount of grain on the farms March 1 was announced Monday by the department of agriculture as follows:

Corn 1,082,095,000 bushels, or 37.4 per cent of the 1919, compared with 855,269,000 bushels, or 34.2 per cent a year ago, and 1,253,290,000 bushels, of 40.9 per cent two years ago.

Wheat 165,539,000 bushels or 17.7 per cent compared with 128,703,000 bushels or 14.0 per cent a year ago, and 107,745,000 bushels, or 16.9 per cent two years ago.

Oats 422,815,000 bushels or 33.9 per cent compared with 590,251,000 bushels, or 38.4 per cent a year ago, and 599,208,000 or 37.6 per cent two years ago.

Barley 38,010,000 bushels, or 22.9 per cent compared with 81,746,000 bushels, or 31.9 per cent a year ago, and 44,410,000 bushels, or 21.0 per cent two years ago.

Farm Land Values.

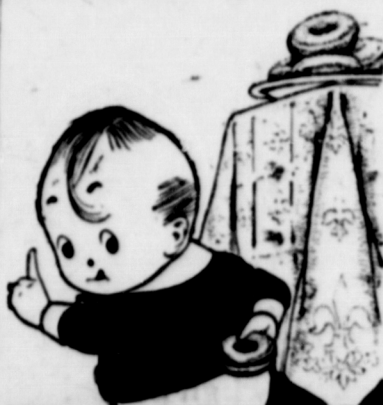

Farm land values are indicative of farm profits. Land does not sell high unless it is profitable to cultivate at the price, unless it is bought entirely for speculation. Most of the farms are bought for farmers to live on, and when they pay the prevailing high prices, it is in confidence that they are buying something which will yield them a fair return for their money.

Right now farmers in this county are rather discouraged because they have lost money in the last six or eight months on cattle and hogs, and because they had such a poor crop year last season. This discouragement, however, has not caused a decrease in farm land values. In fact, there has been a steady increase in values during the last twelve months, and no tendency anywhere for a decline in prices.

We take it from this that farmers are only temporarily in the dumps for if they thought farming had gone to the "bow wows," they would not be buying lands at the inflated prices. As long as lands remain high we may count upon it as an evidence of prosperity among the agricultural classes, just as surely as we can count on an abundance of money when the deposits of the banks are at high tide.

Many Still Read Dickens.

Charles Dickens has been ruled out of a class of the younger literary writers as a decided back number, but a statement by his British publishers that during the past three years the sale of his books has been almost double seems to refute that idea. Some of Dickens' novels sell more than 50,000 every year, and he has been dead eight years. His sales during the last ten years have been larger, it is asserted, than those of any three novels put together.

Cost of Living.

In spite of the failure of Congress to enact adequate laws to meet the situation, the Department of Justice is doing good work in its efforts to reduce the cost of living. There have been 1,046 prosecutions under the Lever Food Control Act, and 107 convictions, with 754 cases pending.

Reports received by the department, it is said, show that 9,342,425 dozen eggs, 5,516,800 pounds of sugar, 841,580 pounds of butter, 99,017 pounds of cheese, 263,000 pounds of poultry, 203,000 pounds of fish and 26,000 cases of canned goods had been released under pressure.

In this connection should be considered the statement of the Supreme War Council made last week, to the effect that while the cost of living had increased 120 per cent, in the United States, its increase in Great Britain was 170 per cent and in France, Italy and Belgium 300 per cent.

Lizards Victims of Curiosity.

Little boys of the Orient often capture lizards by catering to their curiosity. When one of them spies a lizard that has scurried into a crevice he makes a slipknot of colored straw and holds it before the hole. After a time he is rewarded by seeing the tiny creature coming out to examine the curious thing before its den and later it actually puts its head into the noose, which is quickly drawn together by the watchful boy.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

... OF ...

Special Election

... IN ...

Garrard County, Kentucky,

— ON —

TUESDAY, MARCH 30th, 1920

REGULAR TERM:

GARRARD COUNTY COURT; JANUARY 26, 1920.

PRESENT: Hon. Forest Stapp, Judge.

This day came, R. G. Woods and two hundred and thirty two other Citizens and legally qualified voters of Garrard County, Kentucky, who are free holders of the County, and petitioned the Court to make an order on his order book directing the Officers of the Election in all voting precincts in the County, to open a poll on TUESDAY MARCH 30, 1920, to take sense of the legal voters of said County upon the question "Are you in favor of issuing $192,000.00 in Bonds for the purpose of building roads and bridges."

Said Bonds to bear interest not to exceed five per cent per annum with coupons attached, payable semi-annually. Said Bonds to be in denominations of not less than One Hundred Dollars or more than One Thousand Dollars to run not less than five nor more than twenty-one years, and to be redeemed within that time at the pleasure of the Garrard County Fiscal Court and to be sold at not less par value and accrued interest.

Wherefore it is ordered by the Court, that the regular officers of the election, in all the voting precincts in the county will open a poll on Tuesday March 30, 1920, to take the sense of the legal voters in said County upon the question "Are you in favor of issuing $192,000.00 in Bonds for the purpose of building roads and bridges."

The sheriff of said County is directed to advertise said election and the object thereof, for at least 30 days next before the day thereof, in some newspaper having the largest circulation in the County and also by printed hand bills posted up at not less than four public places in each voting precinct in the County and at the Court House Door.

The County Clerk is directed to have printed, upon the Ballot, the question, "Are you in favor of issuing $192,000.00 in Bonds for the purpose of building roads and bridges," and to leave two places upon the right of said question: One for votes favoring the issue, to be designated by the word "Yes" and one for votes opposing the issue to be designated by the word "No", and said Ballot to be printed as provided for in the General Election Laws, Section 1459 Kentucky Statutes.

Said Election shall in all respects, be held in accordance with the general Election Laws of the state.

It is further provided that all the money raised by the sale of the said bonds shall be used solely and alone for the building, construction, or re-construction of roads of asphaltum, concrete, brick, stone block, macadam, gravel or other processes of equal merit.

FOREST STAPP, Judge of Garrard County Court.
This notice is given in pursuance to above order of the Garrard County Court. This 29th day of January 1920.

A. K. WALKER, Sheriff of Garrard County.

DISCOVERED That Daddies Beat Drugs.

A. D. Bradshaw, Kentucky and Illinois Breeder and Feeder, Who Topped Chicago With Baby Beef Last December, Likes Mixing Feeds Better Than Mixing Pills.

Last December, A. D. Bradshaw, Kentuckian, who has been living in Illinois a considerable part of his time the last few years, topped the Chicago market with 24 head of yearling Aberdeen-Angus steers. He received $19.50 per hundred pounds, and the steers weighed 1015.

The load were purchased by Swift and Company and killed out on average of 62 per cent per head for the car load lot.

But six years ago, Mr. Bradshaw was a drug clerk, wielding the tools of a skilled pill maker, who served them up in pinks and yellows and browns to suit the most discriminating tastes in pills. But from his access to blue grass pasture. They had been fed alfalfa hay since Oct. 1. When they arrived in the Yards Tuesday they took the eyes of every one that saw them. Bradshaw believes that they would have brought $2.00 more a hundred had he been able to get them on the market last week. The car situation kept him from getting them in earlier, he said.

After leaving the drug business and entering the feeding game Bradshaw experimented with different breeds of cattle in an effort to get the best breed for baby beef purposes. He fed grades for a short time and found that the Angus type in his feed lot took on flesh faster and were more suitable for this purpose. He then disposed of his herd of grades and entered the pure bred arena. They are the best baby beef cattle in the world," he declared yesterday.

"They fatten faster and show more class along this line than any other breed. I have given them all a trial and it will be Angus baby beef for me from now on."

Bradshaw and his brother, Walker Bradshaw, conduct the Angus Land Stock Farm in Garrard county, Ky. their home. They have a herd of 75 pure bred Angus cattle. In addition

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford One Ton Truck is serving business just as faithfully and economically as does the Ford Touring Car serve all the people faithfully and economically. The Ford Truck is a necessity to the grocer both in delivering goods and in bringing goods from the stations, docks and from the country. It is an ideal motor car because there isn't a want of the farmer or business man that it doesn't supply in the way of quick transportation at a minimum expense. Come in, examine the Truck, and let us talk over the subject.

Haselden Bros Garage.

bottles and boxes of cascara, quinine and other pellets, he had an inspiration one day; perhaps it was a call of the feedlot, or the pill business was off color. But at any rate, A. D. Bradshaw went back to the farm with his brother, Walker Bradshaw, and they began raising Aberdeen-Angus. They raised them with pedigrees, too, and along with the pedigrees they fed cattle because they had been raised at that game and wanted to see the pedigrees pay out when they went up against the cold, calculating eye of the butcher and packer. Take a look at the load pictured here if you are in doubt as to their success.

This string of baby beef steers was fed in Warren county, Illinois, where Bradshaw has relatives. On June 1 they were put on a ration of crushed corn and ground barley with to this breeding herd they will continue in the raising of baby beef. They purchased pure-bred stock at the International for their Kentucky feeding farm and intend to hold at least two sales a year.

"Yes, I'm glad I gave up the drug business—it cannot compare with the cattle feeding game. I was feeding cattle all the time I was a druggist, but now I have my mind on my business. And I think the cattle business is the greatest in the world, just as I think the Angus is the greatest baby beef in the world."—The Aberdeen-Angus Journal.

A. D. and Walker Bradshaw have recently purchased a 400 acre farm, one mile from Danville, where they will operate a breeding plant of registered Aberdeen-Angus cattle. It is said by knowing ones that this is the best located farm and most fertile in Central Kentucky.

Strange Animals.

Those quaint box hedges, which one sometimes sees nowadays in the British Isles, cut out on the top into curious little shapes of birds and animals, are of exceedingly ancient lineage. Pliny the Younger in describing the garden of one of his villas mentions "animals in box, facing each other," and this was perhaps in about the year 100 A. D.

Many peoples believe that ill luck will be the portion of a child who cuts its upper teeth first, and there are one or two African tribes who so firmly believe this that in order to spare the child a life of misery, they promptly kill any child whose upper teeth appear first. Just What Did He Mean?

"Here, my dear husband," said a loving wife, "I have brought you a dear little silver pig for luck; it's a charm, you know, dear, to bring happiness to a house." "Ah, how kind of you, darling! But why should I need a little pig to bring me luck when I have you still?"

Bit of Ancient History.

According to old Anglo-Saxon chronicles Edward the Confessor made a verbal will. On January 5, 1066, he recovered his power of speech and talked with those around him, among whom were the queen, the archbishop of York, archbishop of Canterbury and Harold and Tostig, his nephews. He prophesied the Norman invasion and then, stretching out his hand, bequeathed the crown to Harold. This act was ratified by the ancient British parliament and Harold was crowned the next day.—Exchange.

The Notable New Six

It's the Cleveland Six. Not really new, either, for the factory began deliveries last Summer and since then the Cleveland has gone out over the country into the hands of thousands of owners. And these owners say they are delighted with it. There is every good reason why they should be delighted with it. For the Cleveland Six is really an extraordinary car.

We cannot tell you how good the Cleveland Six is. You must ride in it and drive it to know.

This experience will convince you of the power and pick-up and speed and flexibility of this exclusive Cleveland-built motor.

It will convince you of the comfort of the car, contributed to so much by the low underslung spring construction and the wide soft seat cushions.

You will be amazed at the ease of handling your Cleveland, how lightly it steers and shifts, and at the instant positive action of its brakes.

There isn't any other light car that will give you so much of all that you wish, and at such a fair price.

Democracy In Battle Array.

The Big Democratic gathering in Louisville last week was more than a Conference. Although party men from every section of the State took council of each other; it was more than a banquet, and yet this feature was perfect in every appointment and detail; it was more than the mere listening to addresses, albeit what was forceful and inspiring.

It was a mingling of the great heart and purpose of Kentucky Democracy, dedicated to service. It was the formation in battle array of a host defeated, but triumphant in spirit. It was the beginning of a march to victory.

More than this, it was the end of factionalism among Kentucky Democrats. There were no Beckham Democrats or Stanley Democrats there. There were not "wet" Democrats or "dry" Democrats there.
They were all just plain Democrats without any useless appendage.

They were fired by zeal for party service and for State service. As Judge Hardin said, men were placed to the forefront in party affairs for what they expected to put into it, and no what they expected to get out of it.

The Democratic party has never lost a fight in the State when it is united, and it has never been more united than it is today. Defeat has roused it from its lethargy. Determination is in every Democrat's soul.
There are no more party knockers.
They are all turned to boosters.

"United we stand, divided we fall" is not only Kentucky's motto. It is Kentucky Democracy's lesson. Divided, the party has fallen; united, as it is today, it will stand and succeed.

Easter Market.

The Women and Children of the Christian Church will have an Easter Market at Haselden Bros., store, Saturday before Easter. The proceeds will go towards furnishing the Children's Infirmary in the New Orphans Home at Louisville. Contributions are asked from all members and generous patronage from the public.
Eggs, cakes, pies, meats, candy, canned goods and vegetables. Don't forget the date.

Pre-Easter Services.

The Pre-Easter services which will begin at the Christian Church next Sunday and continue until Easter Day are calling forth quite a goodly interest among the members of that congregation. Services will be held every evening throughout the week beginning at 7:30. Mr. Bourland, the minister, will do the preaching and the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Noland, will lead the music.

The idea underlying this special effort is that every one win one to Christ by Easter Day. No other time of the year holds such sacred memories for the Christian as the resurrection time; and at no other time ought Christians be more zealous.
To the one who is not a Christian it brings a question which should not be disregarded; namely, the question of immortality. It is a time also of quickening in nature. No fitter time for renewing one's life; for turning from a life of selfishness to a life of helpfulness; for turning from a life of sin to a life of righteousness could be found. And it is hoped that many will decide at this time to make such a change.

All who will are invited to attend the services. The presence and fellowship of members of other congregations will be especially appreciated.

Below are given a few of the subjects which Mr. Bourland will discuss, though possibly not in the order given:

"A Costly Supposition."
"A Race Which All May Win."
"The Great Salvation."
"The Quitter."
"Does It Pay."
"Is Sin Ever Forgiven."

STATE PASTORS' CONFERENCE, Held At Louisville Last Week.

LOCAL PEOPLE ATTEND.

The State Pastors' Conference which was held in the First Christian Church at Louisville last week was a notable gathering.

It was one of 48 similar meetings which have been or will be held in every state in the union. It was the first time within the memory of men when representatives of practically all Protestant bodies of the state gathered together to discuss the common problems with which all Protestantism is confronted, and to plan a co-operative effort to solve those problems. About 700 ministers of the state registered at the meeting, besides about 100 women who met in a separate woman's meeting. The local people who attended the Conference were Miss Sallie Elkin and Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Bourland. Others of our town had planned to go but were unable for one reason or another to be present.

The Conference was held under the auspices of the Inter-Church World Movement. This Movement, as most people already know, originated among the southern Presbyterians, Rev. John L. Vance of Nashville, Tenn., being called the father of the Movement. The object of the organization is first to have all Protestant denominations that will join in making an accurate survey of world conditions—a survey of religious, social and economic conditions in all foreign fields and in the United States, from the largest city to the smallest rural hamlet. This is a gigantic undertaking but the results will be of almost infinite value to the religious world. Following the survey, great co-operative campaigns will be launched—Financial Campaigns, Evangelistic Campaigns, Stewardship Campaigns and Life Work Campaigns. In a word, an effort will be made to call forth enough consecrated money and enough consecrated men and women to meet the crying religious needs of the whole world as revealed by the World Survey.

The Conference at Louisville was called for the purpose of considering some of the facts revealed by the incomplete Survey, and to make tentative plans for the needed work of the future. Conditions revealed by the Survey and statistics gathered were shown on the screen and explanations were given by leaders in different phases of the survey work.
Great inspirational addresses were also made by outstanding religious leaders from the North and from the South. All the meetings were characterized by the greatest interest and enthusiasm. All bodies represented voted enthusiastically to enter or continue in the Movement.

Contrary to the belief and statements of some, the object of the Inter-Church Movement is not organic union of the different religious bodies; nor is it to build up a great ecclesiastical organization to dominate the policy and efforts of the af-filating denominations. Everything will be voluntary. If a religious people want to co-operate, well and good; if not, it is the prerogative of the denomination to stay out of the Movement. If a denomination wants to participate in part of the work, and not all, this may be done. For instance: the Methodists have just completed their great Centenary Financial Campaign. They will not need to enter into another financial drive; but they can and will enter the Evangelistic, Stewardship and Life
Work Campaigns.

After the Survey is completed certain recommendations will doubtless be made looking to the relief of conditions in over-churched and in under-churched communities. The needs are so great and the laborers so few that the wisest and most economic distribution of money and workers is incumbent upon religious leaders.
Still, if any religious body or congregation doesn't think it wise to conform to the recommendations, no power inheres in the Inter-Church Movement to enforce the recommendation nor will any effort be made to coerce any religious body or congregation. The right to worship God according to the dictates of one's conscience is a constitutional prerogative guaranteed to every citizen of the United States and no effort will be made to restrict this prerogative in any way. The work of the Movement will be purely advisory and not mandatory.

Co-operation and unity of effort were fundamental to the winning of the World War. Similarly, co-operation and unity of effort are fundamental in every worthwhile and country-wide undertaking. This lesson has been learned by the Christian people of the United States and the religious conditions are so alarming and the needs of the Kingdom so great and so fundamental to continued national stability and true progress that God's people, in the Inter-Church Movement, have come together in a common effort to meet these needs to the country's good, the world's good and the glory of God.

But the Movement, as said above, is purely voluntary and never coercive.
Denominational politics need not be changed or names dropped; but cooperative effort is imperative—imperative, that is, if the work is to be done, and so imperative that when the objects and plans of the Inter-Church Movement are considered it is realized that the Movement is entitled to the sympathy and co-operation of every Christian and to the blessings of God.

BANK'S CASH

Must Balance To a Cent

Those Who Saw Big Bank Open at Night Were Amazed When Reason Was Learned.

Passerby wondered at the lights burning in the First National Bank at night. The whole building glowed, each clerk and teller seemed to be at his desk or in his cage, the rattle of batteries of adding machines, heard faintly on the sidewalk, was as steady as the drone of bees in an orchard.

Still the heavily grided doors of the bank were tightly locked, and the watchman as seen from outside, did not appear eager to admit callers.

What this? Another night-working bank? Turning the corner, the pedestrian found the same scene repeated in the quarters of the Second National Bank. But as he looked, the scene began to dim. Lights were switched off, hats and coats were put on, and a clerk crowded out of the door with a slip of paper and a few small coins jingling in his palm.

He hurried around the corner and rattled the doors of the First National Bank. "Here's your 51 cents," he said to the clerk who took slip and change. "It was on a check of Jones" for $8432.32 that you paid for $8432.83. Don't let it happen again. Good night."

Whereupon lights began to go out in the First National Bank and soon the evening calm was restored.

The incident was an interesting one because it showed in a striking way what frequently happens in banking houses. A mistake of a few cents escapes somebody, but is caught in daily balances. All hands turn to run it down. It is worse to stay after work than after school, but it has to be done. No bank ever closes for the day without its accounts having been balanced to a cent.

And this is one of the reasons why banks make money and many people do not. The BANK knows just how much cash it has in its vaults.

The bank takes good care of its dollars but it never loses a penny through carelessness or waste. The man or woman, boy or girl who makes the most of his or her opportunities, will, like the bank, see that every penny works.

The easy way to do this is to buy
Thrift Stamps and War Savings
Stamps, of course, as fast as possible.
Putting nickels, dimes and pennies into Thrift Stamps prevents wasting them, and results in surprising sums being saved up. One Thrift Stamp each week for nine months is nearly $10 vacation money; one Thrift Stamp each week for eleven months is $12 Christmas money; one Thrift Stamp each week is 3 War Savings Stamps earning 36 cents for you.
Make this your motto: "If it's worth while for a bank to watch it's pennies it's certainly worth while for me."

BETWEEN RIVERS

By FLORENCE MELLISH.

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Woman's Sphere had offered a prize for the best true love story, and Wilfred Thayer, professor of English in Carleton college, had been appointed judge of the contest. He was not enchanted with the task, judging from the slightly bored expression on his handsome face as he bent over a desk piled with manuscripts.

"I wonder if amid this conglomeration of sentiment and florid rhetoric there is one genuine experience. Thank fortune this is the last."

He smoothed out the manuscript and read the title: "Between the Rivers."

"My word! That sounds familiar."

Wilfred gave a low whistle. The happiest year of his life had been spent in a rural locality, styled by the inhabitants of the nearest village "Between the Rivers." He began to read, and the bored expression gave place to one of unmistakable interest. It was the story of a girl's first love affair, and it began with an appreciative picture of her young lover. A puzzled frown between Wilfred's eyebrows deepened as he read. He raised his head and looked critically at his reflection in a mirror that chanced to be over his desk.

"Well," he laughed, "if it were not for a few prematurely gray hairs and wrinkles caused by excessive mental labor, this fair contestant might have attempted a pen portrait of myself."

He finished the pathetic little story—for it was pathetic.

"It hasn't the happy ending that one generally expects. That's one point against it."

There was an idyllic courtship, a little misunderstanding, and a parting; "and," the story concluded, "I never saw him again."

Wilfred's frown had disappeared. His smile grew softly reminiscent. How often Phyllis Harker and he had leaned on the railing to watch the Assawauga glide under the bridge, and how many golden hours they had spent on the Quinabang.

Could this be his own love story as well as the author's? No, Phyllis Harker was too proud, too fine to make copy of her tenderest memories. Nevertheless his fingers trembled as he opened the separate paper containing the contestant's name and address.

Phyllis Kenyon! Another coincidence! The name Phyllis was unusual; Kenyon might be her married name. He glanced at the address—57 Myrtle street, Ashton. By an odd concurrence of events, he would address the Women's club of Ashton on "Twentieth Century Poets" the very next day.

The next day, after his address was over, and as soon as he could escape from the fervid appreciation of various members of the club, the professor looked for 57 Myrtle street. He gave his card to the maid who opened the door of the unpretentious house, and waited in the neat parlor, with his heart beating faster than he approved.

Phyllis paused on the threshold for a glance of recognition, possibly of appraisal, before she came forward to greet him. She had a certain air of dignity and remoteness, though she gave him her hand with unembarrassed kindness.

"This is good of you, Professor Thayer. I was sorry not to hear your address."

"I am afraid you did not lose much, Mrs. Kenyon."

"Miss Kenyon," she corrected him, smilingly.

"But why—" he flushed and hesitated.

She smiled again. "It is only my name that is changed. Soon after we—some years ago Mrs. Charlotte Kenyon persuaded me to go abroad with her to have my voice trained. She also prevailed on me to take her name, and she promised to bequeath to me her little property in return. But, pray be seated and let us talk a little. Mrs. Thayer is not with you?"

"Mrs. Thayer?"

"I heard of your marriage a few years ago to Miss Hepburn."

"Oh, that was my brother. I am still solitary."

She blushed slightly. He glanced at an upright piano in one corner of the room.

"You sing?" he suggested.

"Not now." A slight shadow crossed her face. "A throat trouble made a slight operation necessary, and my singing voice has never come back. But how did you know that I was here?"

For answer he drew her manuscript from his inner pocket. She recognized it with a little cry.

"Phyllis," he reproached her, "how could you give this to the world?"

She bowed her head upon her hands. "Oh, Wilfred, I needed the money so badly, and I thought no one would ever know whose story it was."

"Poor little girl," he interrupted. "I see it all. Now, Phyllis, this would probably win the prize, but I want you to withdraw it from the contest. It doesn't belong to the public; it is ours."

"I think you are right," she added simply, "though I do need the money."

"Phyllis, don't you understand?" He held out his arms. "You don't need money. I have enough for both of us."

"Oh, Wilfred, do you mean that?" In a moment her pride and dignity was all forgotten, and the story ended in true love story fashion.

Dodge Brothers BUSINESS CAR

The car is so light, so certain in its performance and so free from necessity of repair, that the saving in delivery is actual and real.

KINNAIRD BROTHERS

Lancaster, Kentucky.

The Business Part.

A dog had bitten a child in our neighborhood, and we were discussing the incident. One neighbor informed us that the dog was part poodle and part bull. Frank, who had listened eagerly to the conversation, turned to his mother and asked: "Mother, which part bit him?"—Exchange.

Expensive Leather.

The finest and most expensive leather goods are produced at Chan-Chan-Foo, in China. The leather is made from lizard, shark, dolphin and snake skins, which are very strong and durable. Snake skins are used for canes, pipes, purses, pocketbooks, etc.

Ancient Papermaking.

The art of making paper from mulberry bast is said to have been invented in China in the second century B. C. Afterward bamboo shoots, straw, grass and other materials were also used. The manufacture spread to the adjacent countries.

Pepto-Mangan For "Spring Fever."

Spring Days are Treacherous—Germs Don't Disappear with Cold Weather

AND BLOOD IS SLUGGISH AND WEAK

Don't Take Chances if You Feel Bad. Enrich Your Blood with Pepto-Mangan.

There is a great deal of serious sickness in the Spring.

And it is easy to see why. Long weeks spent up indoors, too little exercise and fresh air, winter sicknesses not entirely over with, a generally lowered vitality. Blood weak and sluggish. Then come fine Spring days—that are not as warm as they seem; or sudden changes in the weather, and you haven't taken proper precautions.

Vigorous, red-blooded people do not often get sick. If you're not feeling your best, get Pepto-Mangan of your druggist and take it to build up your blood. This effective and agreeable tonic has been tested for over thirty years, and physicians, everywhere, recommend it for run-down, pale, and anemic people.

The whole family should take Pepto-Mangan—it is good health insurance. Besides, what a joy it is to feel fit and fine—ready for anything! To have an abundance of energy and enthusiasm!

Pepto-Mangan is for sale at your druggist's, and in both liquid and tablet form. There is no difference in medicinal value. Take whichever you prefer. But to make sure you get the genuine, ask for "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" and see that the name "Gude's" is on the package. (Advertisement.)

What Makes Corn Pop?

A grain of "popcorn" is filled with tightly-packed starch grains. The inside of the grain is divided into a large number of cells, each of which may be likened to a tiny box, the walls of which are sufficiently strong to withstand considerable pressure from within. Upon the application of heat the moisture present in each little box is converted into steam that finally escapes by explosion. The grain of corn then literally turns inside out and is transformed into a large mass of snow-white starch.

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-Draught: Relief From Headache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.—Mrs. Chas. Gaston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Theodor's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the Spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, we would take Black-Draught pretty regular until the liver acted well, and we would soon be up and around again. We would not be without it, for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Theodor's Black-Draught has been in use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit. If your liver is not doing its duty, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Theodor's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Theodor's. The original and genuine. B 79

In Disciples' Plans.

President of Board Authorized To Become Member of Promotion Committee of Drive for Funds in Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky., March 17.—endorsement was given the Kentucky division Disciples' World Movement by the State Board of the Kentucky Christian Missionary Society, in session at the Phoenix Hotel, when it authorized its president, Dr. J. H. MacNeill, of Winchester, to become a member of the promotion committee of the movement, which has for its purpose the raising of funds for Transylvania College and the United Society and its affiliated agencies in the church.

President MacNeill presided over the meeting. It was decided to endorse the united campaign of the Kentucky division Disciples' World Movement and to co-operate with it, the fund derived from the campaign in the State to be divided equally between the educational and missionary activities of the Disciples in Kentucky.

Members of the Christian Women's Board of Missions will be prominent in the Kentucky division Disciples' conference at Louisville, having conferences of their own during the three-day gathering. The Central Kentucky delegation, headed by Mrs. Louise Loos Campbell, State Secretary, will include Mrs. John Gay, of Versailles, president; Mrs. Ida Withers Harrison and Mrs. Charles Allen Thomas, of Lexington, vice presidents; Mrs. J. A. Stucky, of Lexington, recorder; Miss Ella Shropshire, of Lexington, district secretary, and Miss Mary Bell Henderson, of Fayette County, secretary. Many members of the C. W. B. M. from all parts of the State are expected to attend the meetings. The Central Kentucky delegation, including the officers, left Wednesday for Louisville.

Organization of the Disciples' World Movement in Kentucky under the direction of Acting Director Homer W. Carpenter, pastor of the First Christian Church at Richmond, is progressing in a gratifying way. The following men and women, prominent in various activities of the church in Kentucky, have been invited to become members of a general advisory committee to assist in the Kentucky campaign: Mrs. A. M. Harrison, Lexington; Mrs. Florence Miller Black, Louisville; Miss Sallie Elkin, Lancaster; Miss Jane Stringfellow, Carrollton; Mrs. R. H. Pyne, Newport; Mrs. Georgia Long, Earlington; Mrs. H. W. Colyer, Catlettsburg; Miss Ella Shropshire, Lexington; Mrs. Z. T. Williams, Columbia; Mrs. Charles Allen Thomas, Lexington; Mrs. A. J. Kinnaman, Bowling Green; Mrs. J. W. Carpenter, Richmond; Rev. W. N. Briney, Louisville; Rev. H. H. Webb, Covington; Rev. J. J. Catleberry, Mayfield; Rev. E. S. Smith, Hopkinsville; Rev. Louis Warren, Hodgenville; Rev. Carl Agee, Lawrenceburg; Edgar C. Riley, Petersburg; Rev. Donald C. Ford, Ashland; Rev. H. T. Young, Mt. Sterling; Beverly R. Joutett, Winchester; Clarence E. Tate, Stanford; Rev. W. J. Clark, Sparta.

Dr. Royal J. Dye, former missionary to Africa, was in Lexington this week as one of the speakers in the interest of the Disciples' World Movement in Kentucky. He spoke Sunday morning in the First Christian Church at Paris and in the evening at the Mt. Sterling Christian church. Dr. Dye will be joined by two other outstanding representatives of the church, and the three will spend fifteen days in the Kentucky campaign.

Indications at the headquarters of the Disciples' campaign were that a large attendance of the Disciples' ministers would be present at the Louisville Interchurch World Conference, paralling the pastors' conference, a meeting of the leading women of the church in Kentucky with reference to their share in the campaign to be waged April 25 to May 2 for funds for the educational and missionary interests of the church is being held. Prominent among the speakers will be Mrs. N. R. Atwater, of Indianapolis, president of the Woman's Work department of the Disciples of Christ.

In the completion of the organization in Kentucky Secretary Lin D. Cartwright, of the Kentucky Bible School Association, has been asked to head the field department of the organization. He was in Lexington the past week in conference with the committee in charge of the campaign with regard to his part of the work.

All the ministerial students of Transylvania College of the Bible who have charge of churches, Dr. R. H. Crossfield, Dr. George Brown, Dr. A. W. Fortune, Prof. E. W. Delcamp, Secretary J. Leslie Finnell and

DO YOU WANT A SPLENDID FARM AND HOME RIGHT NOW? THEN READ THIS.

On next Wednesday MARCH 31st at ten o'clock I will sell to the highest bidder on the premises one of the best farms in Marion County. The home place of Ben S. McElroy of 155 acres located just one mile from the Court House at Lebanon, Ky., on the Springfield pike, adjoining the City limits of Lebanon and on the best pike in Marion County and where some of the finest homes in Marion County are located, City side walk, city water on property and lights at the door. This farm contains 155 acres of gently rolling land (no hills, no hollows, no flat land), every foot can be cultivated with tractor, can stand in back yard and look all over the entire farm, well watered with never failing water in every field and well fenced. Over 75 acres of blue grass that has not been plowed in over thirty three years, in fact the whole farm is in high state of cultivation, the owner having used it as stock and dairy farm and only cultivated enough to supply his needs. Mr. McElroy was known as stock feeder and breeder. Twenty five acres is in wheat and a dandy stand.

This farm will be sold for immediate possession the purchaser assuming contract with white tenant who has been on the farm with Mr. McElroy for years and who will crop twenty five acres of corn and three to five acres of tobacco. By the way last year was the first crop of tobacco ever allowed to be grown on this farm and it brought top price.

Improvements.

The home is a splendid 9 room frame dwelling with modern conveniences and one that you would be proud to call your home. Three large barns, four room tenant house with barn, a complete set of necessary out-buildings, in fact recognized as one of the best improved farms in Marion County.

Lebanon is a live progressive city of about five thousand population with one of the best school systems in the State, a new graded school building now just completed at a cost of over fifty thousand dollars within six blocks of this property. This farm will be sold for immediate possession on terms of one third cash, balance on four years time.

This description does not do this splendid farm justice as you will have to see it to appreciate this place. Will say that I have been engaged in selling farms at auction in every State South of the Mason and Dixon line for over twelve years and this is without doubt the most desirable farms that I have ever had placed in my hands to sell. Now land does not sell in Marion County as high as it has been selling in Boyle, Lincoln and Garrard counties. This place may suit you in every way. Try and attend this sale as it will be sold absolutely to the highest bidder without reserve and when I advertise to sell "It must go".

Very sincerely,

J. S. HASELDEN.

Hundley and Cooper, Lebanon, Ky., local Representatives will be glad to show you this splendid farm at any time.

Prof. A. C. Kuykendall are in attendance at the Louisville conference Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Dr. Homer W. Carpenter, acting director of the state campaign of the Disciples, will have charge of the conference of that denomination Friday afternoon. A luncheon-conference will be held Friday at noon of all the members of the Christian church in attendance at the conference.

OLD HICKORY

Distinguished Wagons

If there was any way in which OLD HICKORY Wagons could have been improved, it was by standardizing production and adopting the Standard 56 inch track.

In every state, in every county, in every community, the automobile is today the acknowledged track maker.

In any state, therefore, in any county, in any community, the wagon that follows this well-defined 56 inch track is a better wagon.

For it saves the team, rides without bumping, minimizes strains and stress on wheels and axles, thereby costing less for repairs.

For a half century OLD HICKORY Wagons have been considered leaders in their field. Today by adopting the Standard 56 inch track, they are proving a strict adherence to their unshakable policy of service to users first, last and always. OLD HICKORYS are sold by Weather and the Death Rate.

The general death rate is found to increase with rising temperature, and to diminish with a falling thermometer. These conclusions are reached by Doctor Ellsworth Huntington of Yale, and are a result of a study of about 400,000 deaths in New York city in connection with the weather on the day of death. The peculiarities seem to apply to all seasons. Variety in the weather is healthful and stimulating, and it is believed that some variability is an essential as proper humidity.

Pretty Idea of Chinese.

Chinese gardeners sometimes plant statuettes of tiny men firmly in pots, just like real plants, and then train live evergreens to grow up over these statuettes. The vines thus form a kind of robe for the statuette men, their white faces and hands protruding from the green leaves.

How Egyptians Make Fire.

The question of how the Egyptians made fire was one that often exercised archeologists. No representation of the process existed on the monuments, nor does the nation appear to have attached any religious significance to the origin of fire. The question was settled by the discovery at Kahun of a regular bow drill for making fire, together with several stiles showing the burnt holes caused by fire drilling.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Student Body

Represented.

Lexington, Ky. March—Special—With the purpose henceforth of placing every phase of athletics upon the most sportsmanlike basis, especially to retrieve losses suffered on the intercollegiate football gridiron during the playing of the drastic schedule of 1919 when her champions did little better than break even with powerful antagonists, the University of Kentucky, thru her Senate, which is its administrative body and her Board of Trustees, its governing body, has just ratified a plan completely reorganizing the system of athletic control and operation with the end in view that coaches of national reputation shall be employed in the future to instruct her young athletes and that she may ultimately gain entrance into an even larger and more representative field than she now enjoys. This modified scheme also contemplates erection upon the University athletic field of a new stadium. Another outstanding feature of the plan is to make it impossible for any but bona fide students to play upon the various teams.

As there were many complaints last fall that the Wildcat football team did not come up to its former standard of achievement, a committee was appointed by President McVey to study the athletic situation and recommend ways and means of remedying faults. The Committee, which submitted a report that was approved by the Board of Trustees and the Senate, recommend a council as the athletic governing body, a concrete stadium on the athletic field, cinder track, better equipped gymnasium, and a "K" house where athletes may be quartered during training seasons and trophies kept, and the employing of a resident coach.

The student body, for the first time, will be represented on the new University Athletic Council which will consist of eleven members including the president of the University, director of athletics, treasurer, three members of the faculty, two students and three citizens of Lexington or Fayette County who have shown marked interest in University athletics. The duties of this council will be:

To be responsible for the welfare and good character of athletics at the University; to formulate and direct the general athletic policy; to recommend for employment the coach and resident coach; to pass on eligibility questions; to foster and support high school tournaments; to establish and provide for a trophy room in which pictures and records of all athletic teams and such trophies as may be accumulated from time to time in connection with University athletic history may be kept. Branch athletic committees for football, baseball, men's basket ball, girls' basketball, track and tennis are also provided for the committee.

Appointments of the new council will be made at once by President McVey. Negotiations are on at present for employment of a football coach of national reputation to handle the 1921 team, as well as for a resident coach whose duties shall be to look after all matters affecting schedule; to assist the coach and athletic director in the training of athletes especially for public contests, and to see that contesting athletes maintain proper class standing and meet requirements of training table schedule.

Hoarded Food Supply to be Placed on Market.

Chicago.—Plans to force into the retail trade the largest amount of food ever on the market in the United States were announced last week by District Attorney Clyne before leaving for Washington to lay the scheme, before Attorney General Palmer.

James A. Miller, assistant district attorney, has gathered figures to show Chicago storage houses now hold 4,969,398 pounds of butter, as compared to 2,122,361 pounds stored here a year ago. More than 5,500,000 lbs. of cheese is being held, where there was but 1,561,466 pounds last year.

Mr. Clyne said prices were being kept up by withholding these food-stuffs.

He said he planned to use both the pure food and drug act and the Lever law against storage houses to force the food stocks on the market.

OBTAIN MAXIMUM YIELD OF OATS

Light Frosts or Even Severe Freezes After Seed Is Sown Rarely Injure Plant.

DATE OF SEEDING UNCERTAIN

Midseason-Maturing Varieties Usually Give Best Yields in Northern States—Preparation of Seed-bed Important.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

To obtain maximum yields sow oats as early as it is possible to get land in satisfactory condition. This crop grows best in cool weather, and frequently is injured considerably by a few hot days when approaching maturity, and light frosts or even severe freezes after the seed is sown rarely injure it.

The date of seeding naturally depends on the locality and season. In the corn belt the best date is usually from about March 25 to April 15. In the more northern states seeding during the latter half of April is advisable whenever conditions permit. In favorable seasons seeding before the middle of April frequently can be done.

The Disk Is the Implement Most Commonly Used in Preparing a Seedbed for Oats.

to advantage, while in unfavorable ones seeding may have to be delayed until early May.

Varieties of Oats to Sow.

Throughout the northern states midseason-maturing varieties, such as Swedish Select, Silverline, Banner and Victory usually outyield other varieties. In average yield the large late (side oat) varieties rarely surpass the midseason type in this section. In unfavorable seasons, however, early varieties, such as Kherson and Sixty-day, frequently outyield the midseason varieties. In the corn belt early varieties as a rule produce the most satisfactory yields. For the northern portion of this section strains of the Kherson and Sixty-day type are to be recommended, while in the southern portion Red Rustproof, an early red oat, is the most dependable. For growing under irrigation at high elevations midseason varieties of the Swedish Select and Silverline types are the most suitable.

Seedbed for Oats.

Prepare a good seedbed for oats. The old idea that oats will produce well on a poor seedbed has persisted too long. This crop responds as well to thorough seedbed preparation as any other cereal. Do not plow land that was in a cultivated crop last year, but disk and harrow sufficiently to make a loose, friable surface seedbed two or three inches deep. As oats require a fairly firm seedbed below the two or three inches of top soil, spring plowing is not desirable, there not being sufficient time for the soil to settle before sowing. Disking also is less expensive than plowing. Of course if a heavy growth of weeds is present in the cultivated crop it will be necessary to plow the land, in which case the seedbed should be rolled or dragged and worked down as much as possible.

Seed and Sowing.

Sow the best seed oats obtainable. Usually seed grown in the region where it is to be sown is better than that brought from some other section. Thoroughly fan and grade your seed, and then treat it for smut. The largest yields are obtained by use of a good grain drill. Drilling requires less seed, insures a more even distribution, a more uniform covering, and consequently quicker and more uniform germination. Under humid conditions the best amount of seed to use on a well-prepared seedbed is from eight to ten pecks to the acre. If it is necessary to sow broadcast on a poorly prepared seedbed use about twelve pecks. Under dry-land conditions these rates of seeding are usually reduced about one-half, from four to six pecks usually giving the best results.

GIVE CORN IN COLD WEATHER

More corn should be given to poultry in cold weather than in warm weather; in fact, corn is one of the best cold-weather feeds, though of course it should not be depended on entirely, for it does not contain all of the things needed to promote health and egg production.

BUICK Prices Have Not Advanced

Buick prices on open models have not changed since October, 1918. We do not know how long this condition will continue, but the achievement of maintaining a price level over eighteen months of the most uncertain manufacturing conditions ever known in the nation is a most striking testimonial to the efficiency of Buick methods and the sincerity of Buick efforts to sell its product at a fair price.

So far as we are informed, the Buick car is the only one in America whose price has not been advanced during this period. The following is the list of Buick models and the delivered price:

K-44 Three-passenger Roadster	$1,650.00
K-45 Five-passenger Touring Car	1,650.00
K-49 Seven-passenger Touring Car	1,950.00
K-46 Four-Passenger Coupe	2,275.00
K-37 Five-passenger Sedan	2,500.00
K-50 Seven-passenger Sedan	2,900.00

Remember, please, that these are the delivered prices and cover freight and war tax, extra tire, tire cover, bumper and lenses.

We are able at this time to make immediate delivery on the three open models, and will be so long as the few we have on hand remain unsold. There is no value comparable to the Buick at this price range, and the prudent buyer will not fail to grasp the opportunity.

THRIFT

Is Medicinal Remedy.

Banking Prelate of New York in Catholic Church Writes Strong Letter Endorsing Government Securities.

The medicinal qualities of Thrift as a remedy for present economic conditions and social unrest are fully realized by the great Physicians of Souls of the United States. The clergy of the country is extending the most earnest and sincere cooperation to the Savings Division of the Treasury Department in the campaign for the establishment of saving and investment in government securities as a national habit.

Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes, ranking prelate of the Catholic Church in New York has urged the clergy under his direction to become actively interested in the Thrift movement. In his letter the archbishop says:

"The United States government, realizing that prompt measures must be employed to allay the prevailing unrest, is appealing to the conscience and sane judgement of the people for their support in a movement which will reduce primarily the high cost of living. In all the churches of this section of the country, the plan will be explained to the people and they will be urged to cooperate with the government by learning the lessons of the value of investing in government securities.

"This drive is not to obtain money, it is rather to make people save. It is not for a brief period. It is intended to cultivate the spirit of thrift. Once our people become stockholders in the government as they will by purchasing Thrift Stamps and Savings Certificates, anarchy and social disorder will no longer menace peace and prosperity."

On the other side of the continent, the clergy of the great denominations in California, united in an appeal for support of the Savings movement sent out from 4000 pulpits. The movement in the Catholic Church has the approval of Archbishop Hanna and Bishops Cantwell and Grace. Bishop William Ford Nichols of the Protestant Episcopal diocese and other Episcopal bishops sent direct letters to their clergy asking them to lay stress on the need of thrift. Bishop A. W. Leonard of the California diocese of the Methodist Episcopal Church, C. W. Brinstad, secretary of the California Baptist Convention, R. S. Eastman, moderator of the Presbytery of Northern California, George Kengott, superintendent of the Congregational Church in Southern California and Rabbi Martin A. Meyer issued similar appeals.

In his letter Bishop Nichols said: "There is pressing need of our country at this most critical time.

One of the several important channels by which this need should be met is, so I am assured, the general and habitual purchase by citizens of Thrift Stamps and Government Savings Stamps. I, therefore, ask that the clergy of the diocese of California seriously stress the Nation's need and the virtue of individual thrift in this time of so much heedless and needless spending."

Farmers are complaining of being "awfully behind with their work". But we have heard this cry oftentimes before, and yet they always did catch up, and we will venture to say this year will not prove an exception.

Good country butter is almost a thing of the past in Lancaster. This is brought about by the fact that nearly every farmer who keeps more than one cow ships his cream, claiming that this brings better returns than marketing his butter locally.

Scarcely a week passes that there does not return to Lancaster some of the men from a distance who were employed here during the tobacco season. However, tobacco is not the occasion of these visits, but some friend made during their recent sojourn.

There has been some indication of late that there is being some "white lightning" surreptitiously marketed in Lancaster. This may work for a while, but the keen eyes of the law are not blinded for long, and someone is sure to be in the toils if the practice is continued.

AN EXTRACT

From the Speech of Major L. M. Smith

Upon An Amendment Offered By Him to Fix a Production Tax Upon Coal.

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate:

It seems to me in view of the adverse attitude of the Republican Administration toward the passage of legislation looking to a proper and equitable tax on coal, that the Latin salutation is suitable upon this occasion. I, therefore, bid my Republican colleagues greetings and farewell—greeting to your imposing majority of 40,000, farewell to your Republican Administration four years hence.

The present session of the Legislature has been an orgy of taxation. Taxes have been levied from the cradle to the grave, from the old family arnica bottle to automobiles, from the rags of the junk man to the sumptuities of the rich, taxes upon the products of the earth which are conspicuous by their absence in the coal producing section of Kentucky. Still old King Coal sits secure, insolent in the fastness of his native mountains, unscathed and untouched by taxation.

I see a host gathering in the table lands the Bluegrass and in the purchase, in the helmets, in the cities—everywhere in old Kentucky where men love justice, equality and fair dealing—a host that will for four years hence rebuke the Republican Party for its untenable, unreasonable and unjust taxation upon all interests in Kentucky save the coal interests. Amid that host, I see 40,000 of the forward looking women of Kentucky, who love their state and would wrest her from the untenable position with reference to illiteracy, whose efforts and whose lofty ambitions and endeavors for the illiterates of the state have been rebuked. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been appropriated for the education of the youth of our land and yet not one dollar to strike the scales of intellectual blindness from thousands of our adult citizens, who are begging, not for a liberal education, but for enough to enable them to read the news of the day and in the evening when the curtains of night have been drawn to sit beside the family hearth and read to their little families from the Book of Books. Is it the fault of these adult illiterates that they have had to stumble more than half blind through life? Is it their fault that the State did not provide for them the advantages now provided for the youth of our land? From the humble cabins of the mountains, from the crowded tenements of the city, the answer comes, "No". These unfortunates have been denied the right to acquire sufficient education to enable them to read and to communicate their thoughts in writing to their friends and loved ones they may have far away, will be of that host already gathered for the purpose of defeating a conscienceless party and so, Mr. President and to you, the Republicans of the Senate, I say, "Greetings and Farewell."

Elms

No natural Gothic arch compares with that formed by two American elms, where their lofty jets of foliage shoot across each other's ascending curves, to intermingle their showery flakes of green. When one looks through a long double row of these, he beholds a temple not built with hands, fairer than any minster, with all its clustered stems and fluttering capitals, that ever grew in stone—Holmes.

Bug Holdup.

A bug may hold up a locomotive. It takes a large number to do the trick, but it has been done. Specialists in the train holdup line in bugdom are the army worm, the tent caterpillar, the cotton worm and migratory locusts. Huge water beetles traveling in force have been known to accomplish the same feat. When these insects swarm upon the track they so effectively grease the rails that no wheel can be kept turning.—Boston Post.

Early Egyptian Tombs.

The kings of the earliest dynasties reared no pyramids. Their tombs were great structures mainly underground—that of Aha (who is possibly Mena, the first king of Egypt), at Naqada measures 175 feet by 88, and contains 21 chambers—built sometimes of brick, with a lining of wood, and sometimes floored with stone, as in the case of the tomb of King Den at Abydos, whose granite floor furnishes the earliest known example of the use of stone in building.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

A House Pioneer. The first structure built with stone sawed by artificial means is in Avondale, Pa.

From the Earth's Infancy.

The perfect state of preservation of organisms which lived untold millions of years ago is shown by Professor Oliver in an archaic type of seed in the lower coal measures of Lancashire. These are only one-fifth of an inch long, but under the microscope their integument is seen to possess ten ribs, which project like little arms.

Work for Rainmakers.

Insufficient rain accounts for the occasional failure of crops in nearly a third of the country.

Getting Rid of House Pests.

Cockroaches or the "croton bug" may be held in check by setting out two saucers, one containing a mixture of flour and plaster paris and the other filled with water. The mixture should be four parts plaster of paris and one part of flour. Badly infested apartments may be thoroughly ridged of this pest by fumigating with hydrocyanic acid gas.
